About Our Show

Weekly Wine Show is a weekly podcast started in March 2016 by Tony and Betty Notto. Our podcast is dedicated to helping listeners understand more about wine. Most episodes provides food pairings as well as wine recommendations that provide a good value for our listeners. Our goal is to take some of the guess work out of picking wine.

Work With Us

If you are interested in having us discuss your wines or wine related products, please e-mail us. We'll only share with our audience about wines or products we actually enjoy. Also, we love to visit other wine regions or wine events to learn and share the information with our listeners. We are open to other ideas for collaboration as well.
